New Facts About Eczema

For years eczema was thought to be incurable, and is so considered today by many people. But since the introduction of Cadum, eczema is now a curable skin disease. Cadum has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from distressing, stubborn and disfiguring skin diseases. One of the ingredients of Cadum is an extract from the tree Juniperus Occidentalis, which has a soothing and healing effect on the skin. It is inflammation, itching, burning, and the skin soon begins to heal. Cadum is good for eczema, pimples, sores, eruptions, rashes, ringworm, itching, itching, irritation, chafing, etc. 10c. and 25c.

Ancients on Parade on Arrival in Bermuda

The famous British company is marching through Hamilton, on their way from the boat to the hotel as thousands along the streets cheer the American visitors. The British troops are shown "attention" as the Ancients passed. Photograph by Richard W. Stone of the American staff, a member of the Ancients.

DUFFY LEWIS OF RED SOX JILTS HIS YOUNG FIANCEE

Unhappily on the breaking of his engagement to George E. "Duffy" Lewis, the Red Sox left hander, whom she was to have married today in Lowell, Miss. Lewis today left an AMERICAN, reported the story of his shattered romance.

Miss Keane has been making her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Keane, a friend of Duffy's and pastor of St. Margaret's Church. The third round of the union was to have been tomorrow, but of course now they will not be wed. Duffy is reported to be in a very bad way, and is expected to leave for New York today.

ASKS INJUNCTION TO PREVENT AUTO SALE

Charles C. N. Goodwin, owner of a 1908 Buick, has turned over his automobile and other personal belongings to his private secretary, Miss Lawrence Johnson, and has asked the court to prevent her from disposing of the property. Goodwin says he has been driven from his home by a military officer and a wife.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is no "cure-all" humbug, but is made for just one purpose—to cure the weaknesses, painful disorders and irregularities of the womanly organism. It is

THE ONE REMEDY for these ailments, sold by druggists, devised and gotten up by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in treating woman's peculiar diseases and is carefully adapted to work in harmony with her delicate organization, by an experienced and skilled specialist in her maladies.

THE ONE REMEDY for woman's ailments, sold by druggists, which contains neither alcohol (which to most women is the rankest poison) or other injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY for women, the composition of which is so perfect and good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient, in plain English on its outside bottle wrapper, and attest the correctness of the same under oath—thus taking its users into their full confidence, and warranting physicians in prescribing it in their worst cases, which they do very largely.

It is foolish as well as dangerous to take medicine the composition of which you know nothing. Therefore, don't let a dishonest druggist prevail on you to accept a secret name for this professionally approved medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. Every ingredient in its make-up has the strongest indorsement of the leading medical men of all the several schools of practice. Send postal card request for free Booklet of same.

Every woman may write fully and confidentially to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and may be sure that her case will receive careful, conscientious, confidential consideration, and that the best medical advice in the world will be given to her, absolutely free. In addition to this free advice, Dr. Pierce will send a fine French cloth-bound copy of his great 1000-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," to any woman who will send 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and its ingrate stomach, liver and bowels. They work in harmony with "Favorite Prescription" when needed as a gentle laxative. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

WORCESTER, Oct. 7.—Paul F. Taylor, the richest young man in Worcester, was arraigned in the District Court in March last on two counts of manslaughter, charging responsibility for the death of Patrick Sullivan, who had a place of business at No. 1212 Washington street, and on, and Frank Johnson of Mattapan, when Taylor's auto collided with the vehicle of Sullivan, who was riding in Mattapan on September 23. At the request of counsel the case was continued until next Saturday, as plea being made. Bail was continued at $2,000.

Taylor was in court and was represented by four lawyers. Three were of counsel for Taylor, which is about as usual in this business. The fourth, Taylor is the youngest individual taxpayer in Worcester. Following the arrest of young Taylor in March, he withdrew the first of his assets to the Highway Commission. The arrest of Taylor caused a sensation in Worcester. It is asserted that, in other young men and two young women were to the effect with him when the auto collided with Sullivan's car, but they were not named, but it is expected they will be called on to testify when the case comes up on continuance.

Champion Wolgast Seeks Scalps of Nearest Rivals

By JACK CONWAY.

In his few weeks Ad Wolgast will turn his back on his single life in the city of New York. He will be married to a woman who is a champion of the ring. He will be married to a woman who is a champion of the ring. He will be married to a woman who is a champion of the ring.

Ad Wolgast has already signed articles to meet Friday night on the coast on Thanksgiving Day. Wolgast is a former English light weight champion and is confident he can defeat Wolgast. Ad has now agreed to meet "K. K." Brown in New York before the start of the season.

The champion is not in the least of the fight. He is not in the least of the fight. He is not in the least of the fight. He is not in the least of the fight.

It will be remembered that Owen Moran was going to box Wolgast and then came across the "K. K." Brown. Moran was going to box Wolgast and then came across the "K. K." Brown.

How to Play Football The Duties and Positions of the Ends

This article, the first of a series of football stories to be printed in the AMERICAN, tells the cardinal points of the game which should position a football team, and how to play the game.

After he has moved directly forward a step or two the end can readily see where the play is going and can vary his position accordingly. If the play is aimed at his end, he should take a step back and get the runner with the ball.

It is often possible for a good end to tell the runner in his tracks before the ball has even reached his own line. This is made easy for the end by the weakness of the interference guarding the runner with the ball.

The end should always endeavor to keep to the outside of the play, so as to drive the runner with the ball to the outside.

GRAIG PRIZE TO RADCLIFFE GIRL

The Craig prize of $250 for the best play written by students of Harvard of Radcliffe has been awarded to Miss Elizabeth Ann Radcliffe, a student of the latter college. In addition to the prize which is offered every year by the Trustees of the Castle Square Theatre, the author of the play is awarded a production of the play in a special time, and $250 is given to the Harvard University Library for the purchase of books dealing with the history of the English stage.

The Inconsistency and Dishonesty of the Republican Position on Tariff Revision

George W. Anderson, the Democratic candidate for Attorney-General, is one of the ablest lawyers in Massachusetts. But despite his large practice, he has found time to keep abreast of public affairs and to study the sociological questions of the day.

From his ability and training, we are not surprised that Mr. Anderson was able, in a very few words, to sum up the inconsistency and the dishonesty of the Republican position on the question of tariff revision.

Mr. Anderson's speech at the convention in Faneuil Hall is worth reading several times. We quote that part of it which epitomizes President Taft's position on the tariff.

"Calm, confident and courageous, the Massachusetts Democracy faces the issues of the campaign, national and State.

"On both, our Republican friends are on the defensive. They won the last presidential election on a platform which declared for the revision of the tariff.

"Candidate Taft declared that 'revision' meant 'revision downward.' President Taft approved revision upward; and at Winona declared the Payne bill to be the best tariff bill ever enacted.

"Amazed and frightened at the storm excited by this declaration, he then admitted that the woolen schedule was unjustifiable and should be revised; yet when a Democratic House agreed with a Republican Senate on the most non-partisan tariff legislation that the country has ever seen, the same President vetoed the bills; in effect, taking the position that the Congress of the United States is competent to impose tariff taxes upon the people, but is not competent, without the assistance of a Tariff Board, to remove or lighten such tax burden.

"The President is now engaged in the pleasing task of trying to explain to the nation why, believing in revision downward, he signs a bill for revision upward and vetoes a bill which revises downward."

Mr. Anderson is right. The position of the President on this question cannot be sincere.

His Tariff Board is like some of our Massachusetts recess commissions. He meant to postpone a bad situation which the President himself and the stand-pat element of the Republican party are afraid to face until after election.

The Tariff Board is without power to make the investigation which would be necessary to render its reports valuable. It was born of the necessary authority to inquire into the cost of production by the elaborate act of the Taft stand-patters in the Senate, and Senator Hale, in the floor of the Senate, declared that the Tariff Board, under the act as amended, had no power, and that the President to understand it.

Governor Foss has given a remarkable interview to the Sunday AMERICAN, which will be printed in to-morrow's issue. In his usual emphatic and aggressive manner he talks right out from the shoulder. And he tells how the election will come out.

The one big question that towers above every other issue, as the Governor sees it, is discussed at length. It is a problem that affects every home—a problem upon which the Governor has been at work for ten years.

The Governor has something to say about Senators Lodge and Crane that must make their ears burn. The political situation in the State is discussed with reference to President Taft.

The Governor tells for the first time why he did not leave Massachusetts and go to Pittsburg when his factory burned down some years ago. Working men will want to read this.

Voters of all political shades of opinion will find this interview of intense interest, not only from a political standpoint, but from the business angle.

A new series of beautiful pictures by Winsor McCay, the author of Little Nemo, is the latest feature of the colored section of the Sunday AMERICAN.

Is American Labor to Be Beaten Down to European Level? Read To-morrow's Sunday American

Bit by bit, like streaks of dawn breaking through the midnight sky, the truth is coming out, and is rapidly finding its way into the minds of the American people, that labor serfdom of women, cruel and revolting, is fastening its fangs into the vitals of our industrial system. Two weeks ago this newspaper unveiled conditions of woman labor in East Cambridge, the details of which shocked the whole Commonwealth. With Faneuil Hall crowded to the doors last Saturday evening, public opinion found its voice of protest against those horri-fying conditions in the Cambridge foundry, and through able tongues raised that voice in no uncertain tones.

Facts have now come to light, following quickly on the Cambridge disclosures, which show that woman slavery in great factories and mills has reached a stage so deep-rooted and extensive as to strain the credibility of the American public.

In the neighboring city of Worcester, home of inventive genius, the actual birthplace of the Republican party, and a community known everywhere for the industry and thrift of its citizens, conditions of woman labor are now in existence which are a shame to that city and a deep stain upon Worcester's record as one of the nation's centres of commercial progress.

This newspaper has investigated these conditions at first hand. Medical testimony as well as that of ministers of religion support the facts.

There is work for women, proper, humane, legitimate, in this land of opportunity, and no woman should be without such. It is her birthright of dignified self-respect and independence.

But there never was a place in America for degrading, health-destroying, life-shortening, children-killing woman labor. Such barbarity is silently but steadily creeping its way into the industrial life of the country. It was Cambridge a week ago, it is Worcester now. Are all our factory cities victims of this greed-born plague?

If so, it is time American opinion turned a searching light on the plague spots and found a remedy. It is time people began to talk about the woman labor in cities like Worcester and Cambridge. American men are being displaced; women from Europe are being put to work in their places. Is this system to spread?

If it continues to do so, the standard of American womanhood and manhood will be beaten steadily downwards until our workers and themselves facing the conditions of the herded hordes of Southern Europe.

It is for American humanity to give heed to the story from Worcester to be told in to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN.

What Mary Done

MARY had the queerest taste! Just despised the military. Gave her heart, her hand and waist To a young apothecary. Just a common, ordinary Pill-compounding, blimpiness, bounding, Fat and snuffy, snuffsnuffy, Snifflesque snuffsnuff. When he snuffed his snuffs at Mary, That's what Mary done. Mary thought him such a dear; We just thought it temporary. Till at last it seemed quite clear Her affection wouldn't vary. You, she loved that smart and airy, Puffed-up, placid, horlic acid. Silver-bromo genus homo. Snuffing, herding one. When he hoored his horns at Mary, That's what Mary done. He skipped out, the low-down trash! She, so simple and unwary, Sent him fifteen dollars cash At his call apothecary. Yes, the mean and mercenary, Drugs-and-notions, cream-and-lettings, Small, concoction, pop-eyed nany, Out of town he skunk. Never did come back to Mary, That's what he done.

Diary of Abe Henstep

By MILES OVERHOLT

YES, it is true that I am keeping a diary because I decided to keep a diary. I intend to have all the incidents on the market so long as they don't cost anything. I have had the appetizers and the gong and a dinner—now I am getting a diary. I am a colorful old snigger, snigger. You see, I used to be a horse-shoe and saw a lot of horse-shoe riders. That is a joke! I can't see any harm in promoting a little post like that so long as it is in a diary. I wouldn't like to work off anything like that on the public, though. I had a little trouble with my wife this morning. She wanted me to get up and start the fire before breakfast one rainy day and I refused to do that, but she said, 'In the excitement of anger I always remain calm. My wife is not that way. She gets nervous and her muscles twitch convulsively. They told me she got out of bed this morning and if I had not had presence of mind enough to fall on my face, I might have injured my hands severely.'

I don't like to get personal in a diary, but I am not getting any special discounts over a leased wife, so most of the topics will have to be kind of local. My wife found an old cigar box in my pocket yesterday. I was keeping it on file for scientific purposes, but she threw it away. I think her first husband must have been a cigar holder or a snigger. I never use tobacco in any form when she is present. In a fit of recklessness once I smoked a cigarette without first stepping up the keyhole in the door of the washstand, and my wife criticised me with an old lion's roar so severely that it changed the whole course of my life. I used to walk in a firm way, straight ahead, but one of my legs in the way of the low handle and it is shorter now and my course is kind of wobbly. I went out with a politician last evening, and when I returned my wife disapproved my looks so rudely that one of my eyes is swollen shut and I can't see to write much to-day.

JOHN REDMOND, M. P., Ireland's leading statesman, talks at his home in Wicklow with John L. Eddy, of the Hearst News Service in London. Mr. Eddy went specially to Ireland to get this interview. Mr. Redmond talked with him in all possible freedom on the great political issue of which he is the chief exponent. Read it in Sunday's AMERICAN.
